SCOTT AND BLACK ARRIVE HOME.

WELCOMED AT VICTORIA STATION.

---

Picture.

The train bringing Scott and Black is just drawing in. This--

--is Victoria Station, of course. Black is just approaching the camera, looking--

--rather seriously satisfied, as well he should.

Scott smiles gladly and--

--frankly. Hundreds of people press forward trying to get a hand--

--shake from the now world-famous airmen. The pair--

--are officially welcomed back by--

--Lord Gorell, Chairman of the Royal Aero Club, and Lieutenant-Colonel--

--Shelmerdine, Director of Civil Aviation. The cheering is tremendous, and Scott's smile broadens.

Campbell Black relaxes somewhat too.

The noisy welcome given is proof of their recognition by the--

--public, not only as record breakers, but history makers of British aviation.
