(1). Picture :- The River Medway has-- --misbehaved itself. Overflowing with its-- --own importance, and the recent rains,--
--it has invaded-- --the surrounding country. Kentish hog-fields, from which the beer comes,--
--are flowing with water. Traffic has to splash through feet of-- --floods. Instead of "gee up", drivers--
--are saying "Wade for it !" In many places flood water--
--is nearly four-feet deep. Further North, roads--

(2). --have become impassable, and impossible, by snow. This super-optimist--
--tried to dig a road all for himself. He failed. Some people--
--I know, fled the cold, and went-

(3). --to Morocco, and found this !
The country where one--
--can often cook--
--eggs in the sun, has been given the-- --frozen grip. Sun-baked troops are put to the-- --job of freeing almost desert routes--
--from snow. The Government improvised a snow-plough,--
--and Moroccan tourist bureaux' slogan is now "See Moroccan snows first". Sunny
