

DOWN "PETTICOAT LANE" 2-805/21

SUNDAY MARKET IN FULL SWING.

Picture:- In case you think London on--

--Sundays is hard ridden by Old Man--

--Depression, here are a--

--few scenes from Petticoat Lane, or, since petticoats--

--are out of fashion,--

--Middlesex Street. Anything, and everything, is being--

--sold. Plain paper turned into 10/- notes for 6d.

Tonic guaranteed to grow hair on a billiard ball.

And cures for any--

--sort of ailment, from a broken chilblain,--

--to a broken neck. And no entertainment tax.

Brick Lane, nearby, is just--

--as busy. A fine fowl for a 1/-.

If you have lost a dog, you may find it--

--here, possibly dyed a--

--different colour. Pick share--

--you like, lady ! They have all got pedigrees.

And birds - - well, even your--

--wife can't object to these.

In fact you may buy anything,--

--if you don't lose your--

--purse at the first stop. Anyhow, that will--

--cause a depression, for which--

--the Government cannot be blamed.
