

THE OTHER CUP FINAL.

UNEMPLOYED AT WEMBLEY.

Picture.);- Here is what I think to be, excuse personal opinion, but you may agree, the best Cup Final Match of the season. There are not--

--eighty-thousand people here,--

--I don't think there are eight hundred,--

--but to get on, Sir Noel Curtis-Bennett shakes--

--hands first with the Oval House Club, and then--

--with St. Mark's Fellowship team. The players are young unemployed--

--men, and the Match is for the London Occupational Shield.

The place, as you observe, is the-- --Wembley Stadium, a ground worthy of such a match. The boots which the Oval House--

--Team are wearing were gifted--

--by His Royal Highness--

--the Prince of Wales. As soon as a man gets a job,--

--the team loses him, and another takes his place. But--

--despite this tremendous drawback and their unemployment, they play good sporting football. In fact, one--

--man F. Hicks has been--

--spotted for a trial in the Arsenal Players nursery. George Stanford, St Marks' winning captain, was so excited he dropped his--

--medal, but he held the shield. A real human cup final.
