

THE CELTIC CUP.

SHINTY FINAL AT GLASGOW.

Picture.:-

The Inverary Shinty Team gathers their clan at Glasgow to--

--play against Mid-Argylls for the Celtic Society's Cup.

Inverary wins the toss, and the game begins. This-- --is one of the oldest Highland games, and interest in it seems to be on the upgrade, in Scotland,--

--at least. An Inverary player lofts over the Argyll goal,--

--and misses scoring. The re-start looks like a golf drive.

Inverary side has already won the Trophy five times against Argylls' one, but the result of this match is by no means easy to forecast,--

--even after an hour's play.. The Argylls attacks are vigourous, and fast, but their defence hardly equals that of their opponents. McVicar, by an excellent overhead stroke scored a lovely goal, which easily--

--defeated the Argylls' goalkeeper, winning the Match for Inverary,--

--the holders. The Shinty Association's President handed over the Cup to the victorious captain.
