Picture:- To Stockholm goes the flower of--

--British aristocracy. Lady Milford-Haven, sister-in-law--

--of the Swedish crown-princess. takes an ice--

--yachting trip. Watch the skids lift on the bumps.

This sport is not without its dangers. When a skid--

--cross piece breaks, somebody usually gets hurt.

The leverage is terrific. At fifty miles per hour--

--yachting is a real thrill.

Lady Milford Haven--

--is sailing with the more than competent helmsman Mr. Sven Salen, one of Sweden's most prominent yachtsmen, who is also an Olympic prize winner. Now a jump--

-- to Margate.

The Mayor is behind that cup. Margate is extending its borough boundaries,--

--taking in Westgate and Birchington. A service--

--is held, blessing the new and--

--enlarged Margate, and thereafter--

--his worship the Mayor is bumped. Not off, just--

--bumped, according to an old Kentish--

--custom. The bounds are then--

--beaten with great energy by otherwise harmless bobbing choir boys.

Then comes more loving cup. That's a--

--really good idea. The beating--

--continues until the Mayors--

--of Margate and Ramsgate meet, and the loving cup--

--again turns up. Hearty cheers--
--and the Chief Constable of Margate--
--is bumped, and so on, until ancient--
--custom is appeased, and the loving--
--cup goes dry.
