CHISLEHURST CAVES AS REFUGE.

Picture.:-

In times of peace, prepare for gas--
--attacks. Hissing cheerily,--
--the gas poisons the atmosphere. A warning of 'GAS'--
--is rattled out. Pretty earnest V.A.D's--
--disguise themselves with gas masks, and the world--
--(six villagers, and a-- --policeman) looks on, and wonders !!

Into the perhaps deadly--
--gas go the rescuers,--
--finding casualties almost without looking. Phosgene, (that's--
--a poison gas, not a--
--new cold-cure) has been fouled in its murderous mission. This mimic--
--gas attack at Chislehurst, Kent, is--
--held by War Office officials to be a useful--
--demonstration of 'Safety First' for-- --air raids, and, of course, war. Meanwhile the Geneva--
--talkies draw full houses for the show "What Price Peace".
