NEWS IN BRIEF.

- (1). Picture.:- The village of Howick, Northumberland--
--bubbles with unusual excitement. Lady--
--Mary Grey, daughter of the Earl and Countess Grey of Howick,--
--emerges from the village Church, the wife of the Honourable Evelyn Baring,--
--son of the late--
--Earl and Countess of Cromer.
From the Church, the-- --party drives to Howick Hall, and the bride--
--is kissed by Captain the-- --Honourable Claude Lambton, stout fellow. Rice and confetti are-- --generously presented to the happy pair, and it's heigh-ho for honeymoon lane, or train.

- (2). Picture.:- In this story, a different sort of lady takes a different sort of journey. Priests of ancient Egypt, accompanied by an imposing suite of stalwart weebucks, hoodahs, and how-do-you-do's. (Permanent address, class-rooms, Edinburgh University)--
--arrive at blisistorical tallcross, with the body--
--of their lamented queen Youre-a-carman. After which ceremony the prone lady, what was, is unceremoniously--
--denuded of loose covering, thoroughly white-washed; she having been somewhat--
--of a lass prior to embalming, and being put in mummy wrappings for future consideration.
The lady is again covered. Cash appeal is substituted for--
--sed appeal, and the Edinburgh Hospitals receive the result with much joy.
