

--were still beating, an Englishman was buried in the-- --village church-yard in Dorsetshire. Mr. and Mrs. Winston Churchill,--
 --Lady Astor, and many persons of-- --wide-world prominence attend his simple funeral. His coffin--
 --is carried by his friends. Some unknown figures - - and some great. But the greatest name among them is not greater than--
 --Lawrence of Arabia. He consecrated his-- --life to the service of his country, with no-- --thought of gain, or glory. Many mothers' sons--
 --have done this, but Lawrence's peculiar gifts and service have singled-- --him out for history's page. His tragic death is a national tragedy.
