WHIT MONDAY IN MANCHESTER

PAGEANT OF MARCHING CHILDREN

Manchester Church of England Sunday School children go for their Whit Monday-----

---walk. The weather was very threatening, but cleared ----

----just enough to allow the procession to keep fairly dry. There were really two -----

---- processions; one of children in pretty frocks and another of mothers, alongside, carrying mackintoshes-----

---in case of a wash out. ----

---There is one who is a complete walking cloakroom --well, a sort of multiple coat----

---hanger. The children are from all the schools of the district and they look sweet and fresh-----

---as only children can - except this one, who rebels against law and threatens to tell his daddy. -----

---The children of Sacred Trinity Church, Salford, are dressed in costumes which recall their church's foundation three hundred years ago. ----

----Oh, the rebel has taken to drink, and so-----

--- young too. I suppose it's the weather. Anyway, despite ---- the day, the deed was a great success.
