(3). Picture:-

visitors are a party of German-- --prisoners of war. Brighton welcomes them on their pilgrimage to the graves of German--
--and British dead--
--in Brighton Cemetery. At--
--the British graves--
--the late enemy salute--
--the resting place of those who fought-- --against them. After that tribute-- --they repair to the graves of-- --their dead comrades who died during detention.

On the simple memorial--

--a wreath is laid. The party is accompanied by a distinguished compatriot in the-- --presence of Prince Otto Von Bismarck,--
--a name standing high in German history.

(4). Picture:- And now more history from Manchester. The Rehabites--

--Pageant at Belle Vue illustrates the growth of the movement from its inception 100-- --years ago. Salford has the honour--
--of being the town where the movement was born. 135--
--special trains--
--have deposited 100-thousand--
--people here for the Celebration, and they are all-- --totallers. "Say, are all the drinks here soft?"

They are, George. "And you invited me, by--"

--Golly ! Is that Scots bus a dry cow too ? Must be George. "That's great !" Here, where are you going !
"I got--" to see a man about a dog !"
