WIMBLEDON AGAIN:

TENNIS STARS IN ACTION.

Picture:- It's too, too hot !, as F.J. PERRY comes--
--out with M. RAINVILLE, Canadian champion.

F.PERRY, our own--

--cheery champion, receives from RAINVILLE the first ball of this year's Wimbledon. The Canadian champion, although--

--thick set, looks rather like Jack--

--playing against the giant.--

But the play doesn't show him to be a giant killer.
In his first exuberance,--

--Perry just missed putting--

--

--a shot in the Committee--

--Box, but having worked that off, he--

--settled down to exterminate his opponent. RAINVILLE struggled manfully, lost four games,--

--but won the fifth with two excellent services. That set ended 6 - 1.

The rout of Rainville was completed when--

--the scores of 6 - 1, 6 - 1, and 6 - 3 were--

--recorded, and that was how TIGER→→

--PERRY took his first Wimbledon meal of Empire goods.

WIMBLEDON CONT.

Picture. Wimbledon meets the deluge, and--

--has to retire--

--for a spell. However, the--

--flood at last retreats

--and the court takes off its dressing-gown to resume operations.
Mrs--

--Helen Wills Moody, right, comes out with Mademoiselle--

--Baumgarten, of Hungary,--

--for her first round of the Women's Singles. Helen serves,--

--and her opponent retrieves a not too easy shot. Mademoiselle Baumgarten is--

--a player of quality,--

--but not the quality to-- --dispose of Mrs. Moody's volleying. After contesting--

--some spirited rallies, the petite Hungarian is well beaten, six--

--0, six-one. Helen having thoroughly enjoyed herself in--

--starting easy towards her--

--7th championship effort. Now over to the Holder's Match--

--second round. Miss Dorothy--

--Round, right, is matched against Miss--

--McOstrich, a left-handed British player. Miss--

--McOstrich has an excellent service, with plenty of speed,--

--and much of her--

--game was brilliant. In fact, Miss Round has to go--

--all out to win,--

--with 8-6, 6-5--.
