INTERNATIONAL WATER

POLO

WALES V IRELAND.

---

Picture:-

For a change from--

--cricket and tennis, the international water-pole match at Seven Sisters. Wales--

--V Ireland. Mr. Evans Bevan welcomes the players, and--

--the snow does, of course. And the match starts. Mr. Evans Bevan, M.P. is a supporter of the very good idea that everyone should learn to swim. This display match is his subtle--

--way of spreading the propaganda for the good work.

The Baths are packed, and the interest in the--

--game is high. Ireland saves.

A fine pass just afterwards resulted in a--

--score for Wales. The goal-keeper's job is a trying one.

It's so difficult to run fast and clear in water. Here is a lovely right wing spurt, and sink me, if it isn't a goal. That makes Wales five--

--Ireland three. So Taffy keeps the Cup. Well, of course, he's Welsh.
