WORLD MODEL YACHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

Picture.:-

Five nations are competing for the World Model Yacht Championship at Fleetwood. Great Britain is the holder.

Norway, United States of America, Britain, France and Germany, are this year's contestants. The races start with a duel between "Yankee" of America and "Hunding" of Germany.

The next round is between "Gaulois" of France and "Prince Charming the Second" of Norway. The French craft tacks away off her course, while the Norwegian sails a winning effort in splendid style.

The Britisher, Colonel Holden's "Naiade", nearest the camera, is defending the title.

She has a remarkable series of wins, and, unless I am very much mistaken, she will retain the championship for Britain for yet another year. At the time of going to press "Naiade" is ahead on points, so it looks as though the Union Jack will be on top.
