(EFFECTS TO END OF STORY)

(B). FRANCE!..... At the Saumur Cavalry School, the renowned Black Squadron presents its annual display of horsemanship.

(EFFECTS TO END OF STORY).

(C). While we are in France, listen to the story of the missing munitions. Three-hundred cases were shipped to the Argentine Government.

They were refused and returned to the Havre, where it was found that rocks and sand had been substituted for the original contents of the cases. Needless to say the police are busy.

(D). AMERICA!..... Here is the first glimpse, at Seattle, of Uncle Sam's new mystery 'plane. It is considered to be the most formidable aerial weapon in existence. She has a wing-span of a hundred-feet, and four seven-hundred horse power motors. She will bristle with guns of all sorts and will have a speed of two-hundred and fifty miles an hour. A veritable aerial battleship.
