HOLIDAY TIME.

THRILLS AND JOYS.

Picture.:- Marvellous holiday weather. The perspiring world and his wife pack tooth-brushes and etceteras, or just tooth-brushes, leave behind the arid

macadam deserts of town

and city, arriving eventually at, well, here's Brighton Promenade. Rather hot ! Better on the beach ! Oh, much better !

Always attractive, educative ! Always something interesting to pick up ! Even if it's only somebody else's clothes. Un-necessary things anyway. Worthing! Sun still shining !

Thousands of people turning themselves into islands surrounded by water. Keeping cool ! Sea beaches are one large bathing parade.

"Let's all sit on the Strand and have a banana !"

Kiddies love standing in the sea, - love sitting - - Yells for mother and something dry. Sleep by the deep. I see they're back at Littlehampton. All these myriads of undressed holiday-makers are storing
