Picture.:- The second day of the final Test between South Africa and England at the Oval. Langton bowls to Wyatt's batting.

Wyatt knocks a hot one. England is doing well in this innings. They have to beat South Africa's 476, and look like doing it. Wyatt has made three out of that,

and the enormous crowd

encourages him. Crisp bowls to Leyland,

and Leyland uses the ball to complete his century. (APPLAUSE). He acknowledges the compliment.

(APPLAUSE).

Dalton bowls to Ames, who knocks it for - - one !

England draws stumps at 313

for four. The result now being a foregone conclusion, the third day's crowd is comparatively small. Leyland has just knocked up 161. Off Crisp's bowling, Ames gets his century, and England declares at 534 for six. A fine effort. Siedle and Mitchell go out, and to make a long story thick, let's confess :

England has lost to Australia,

the West Indies, and South Africa.

Never mind ! Let's think of Arsenal, or Sheffield Wednesday !
