PREPARING FOR BATTLE.

JACKIE BROWN AND BENNY LYNCH.

Picture:-

Just now BENNY LYNCH is skipping at Glasgow. Soon he will be skipping off to Manchester to run into a gent by the name of JACKIE BROWN, who is at present the world's champion flyweight boxer. Lynch is busy working up something to alter all that.

Although a Scot, Benny hates porridge so much that he's preparing to give Brown a basin-full.

Brown's ideas are in direct opposition. Being a Manchester man his natural enemy is a Scot. Brown, of course, can't possibly expect to find a purse of three-thousand-eight-hundred pounds without having to knock at least one

Scotsman off it. So he's practising hard !

And when the cameraman recovered, he made Brown a friend !
