(a). Picture:- Long Island, America, floats a new Company. Father Neptune is the Chairman, and the Company deals chiefly in mermaids, but the share-holders get a big dividend in fun. Here is a sort of water circus and aquatic zoo.

The supposed newly-married couple set out on a cold honeymoon but succeed in making a splash, and the wedding guests follow the pair up, or down. The tactless brutes !

(b). Picture:- Savona, Italy, ! Although the country is rather busy in other directions, the people of this town find time to revive a famous old horse-race through the streets. The event has been forgotten for about two-hundred years, but some-one, with nothing better to do, has dug it all up again, and there's one who is sorry about it.

However, the winner wins, and the losers lose, and the bookies go home smiling.
