

J U - J I T S U I N S T R U C T I O N .

SCHOOL'S REGULAR LESSONS.

---

Picture.:- If any Walthamstow brigands think of rough-housing school-boys, let them think again, before trying it on the lads of the Grammar School. Training in ju-jitsu has been added to the "three R'S". These pictures show the boys in class. There's an attack from the rear, foiled by a leg-lock throw, and the attacker made very sorry he tried it.

A cross-buttock throw makes another attacker bite the dust, while the abdominal attack, with leg throw and lock, makes the rough houser wish he had gone to the pictures to see the stars.

The instructor shows the hook-arm-at-throat manoeuvre. Very efficient in closing an argument, and if any gentleman descends to a running kick, that's what may happen to him. I am told that this science is being taught to girls also, so in future before treating 'em rough, it may be advisable to find out where they went to school, and how much they know.