NEWS FROM AEROD.

THE ITALO-ABYSSINIAN WAR.

ACTION SCENES.

Picture.:-

The latest batch of pictures from Abyssinia. The actual fighting is still quite near the borders, and from the Abyssinian side where our cameramen who took these films are stationed, operations are fairly quiet and bloodless. Local parade ground are busy, but primitive. One sees modern guns and shells being handled as if they might go off at any time.

These men were due to trek to the front the morning after this picture was shot.

Practice with light aircraft guns is almost continual, and the heavy kick of the recoil is teaching the native gunners what shouldering responsibilities means.
