JOCKEYS v. BOXERS.

FOOTBALL AND DONKEY DERBY.

Picture:-

A most important match at Millwall ! Jockeys v. Boxers! Important because the kick-off is by Lord Hirst, but more specially important for the hospitals, to whom the proceeds are to be given. The ring is rather big for the boxers, but the jockeys, being used to posts a long way apart, get the best of the game. The ref's whistle keeps blowing, but nobody takes the slightest notice, so he joins in the game. The jockeys knock out the boxers for three-nil, and then commence their Donkey Derby. It was nearly spoiled by Bud Flanagan. The donkey heard one of Bud's 'gags', and sat down for five minutes to laugh it off, but he then got up and tried to catch the others and tell them. The race ended with Charlie Smirke beating about one-hundred press photographers, and the rest of the field by a short head. But the win really is the Hospitals.
