THE DARKIES' BALL.

PARISIAN CELEBRATION.

---

Picture.:-

Enter stealthily female man imitating gentleman of the West Indies, trying to find, his, her, or its black-eyed Susan behind a piece of scenery. This fantasy of the rice-fields is presented before a very distinguished Parisian audience to commemorate the tri-centenary of the union of France and the French West Indies. Enter trippingly imitation rice, packed in charming wrappers. (EFFECTS).

President Lebrun is foremost among the brilliant gathering of politicians, diplomatists and social lions and lionesses.

Many West Indian artistes take part in the performance which develops into what printed matter usually calls a terrific patriotic all-star spectacle. (EFFECTS).

(EFFECTS - 1 SHOT).

The world is grateful to the West Indies. If it was not for the West Indies, I doubt if there would be enough rice to throw at newly wedded couples. The West Indies also grows coconuts.
