

THE WAR
IN ETHIOPIA.

ACTIVITY AT MAGALLA.

Picture.:- ABYSSINIA ! Are these war pictures ? Well, are they ?

When the cameramen can't get real war pictures, they just get war pictures.

The best sort of war pictures. Full of action, but no nasty business. And so with the cameras furiously

turning, troops are rushed to the barrack square, and then rushed out again. It's practise for everybody ! This exciting incident takes place in Magalla, in the Hurrah, no, the Harrar district. The Italian advance guard is presumed to be advancing, and the native Italian troops are ordered to advance at the double, ready to stem the advance of the advancing guard.

It's all very complicated, but quite enjoyable. The cameramen are delighted.

War without worry ! Pictures without pain.
But somewhere

in the dark

distant mountains is the real enemy. But thank goodness he's a long way off !
