

2-010571

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Picture.:-

Some visitors from the East arrive to winter in England. Added to the Leith Dock smells are those of the jungle. What must the Ark have been like? These elephants are on their way to the station to join a circus at Kelvin Hall, Glasgow, but before entraining they are given a meal. After a very rough passage from Hamburg they are rather empty. Getting them into trucks gives the crowd some free amusement, and even an elephant sees the joke. At last by various cunning, or deceptive methods they are persuaded to go quietly, and the next time the Scots want to see them, they will have to pay.

---