SAILING SHIP'S RECORD

TRIP

"FREDA M" AT LEITH.

---

Picture.:-

A rather rare sight. A sailing vessel trading between West and East. The 'Freda M.' has come from Newfoundland and at Leith unloads a cargo of salt fish. Maybe the landing of this thirst inducing food is a deeply laid plot by the Scottish whisky distillers to help the exchequer.

Eat More Salt Fish, and Cultivate a Thirst to be Proud of. Anyway, having got rid of her salty cargo, the 'Freda M.' shakes out her skirts, revealing her smooth curves and neat rigging. Freda is speedy. She made the seven-teen-hundred miles rough crossing in fifteen days, and woman-like salted her catch on the way.

But in her hurry, she nearly split her main-sail and busted her stays. But, there, girls will be girls !
