TIME TO
"PACK UP"
PARCELS FOR FRIENDS OVERSEAS.

Picture:-

Have you posted your Christmas presents, cards, and what-nots for abroad? If you haven't, a few others have done so. For here are a million or so parcels on their way. Machinery and men at Mount Pleasant are tireless in sorting the avalanche of packets for far corners of the earth. Packets which mean happiness for those who give, and for those who receive. This is a night scene at the great Sorting Office. To borrow a slogan from the cure-everything advertisements, "it works while you sleep." This marvellous Post Office organisation handles millions of letters and parcels over this period, and if there is a hitch in delivery, it is probably because you have put Peckham instead of Penang, or you write the address as illegibly as a doctor's prescription. Anyway, it's your fault. Ask the Post Office?
