HOT AND COLD.
THRILLS FROM U.S.A.

Picture.:- A selected party of American death-dodgers, who, - - well they dodge death, of course.

Fire, flood, or anything fat-headed just can't scare them. Just watch this fellow get a rise, and try and kill our perfectly good cameraman.

That's just nothing at all. Keep looking. (EFFECTS). And this last ! (EFFECTS - PAUSE). And to prove it's no trick, they do it backwards. Ain't the camera clever ?

And what about this pair of heroes ? They have agreed to be sealed up in an ice vault for six hours. It's a medical experiment to determine the effect of cold on the heart and lung action. And in they go for the most frigid tete-a-tete on record.

Mother's advice isn't needed for this little party.

And the longer they are alone, the safer they will be, I should say. Six hours in that should freeze out any friendly ideas. The six-hours are over and the refrigerator is unsealed. They are still breathing. Careful how she bends !

She may creak up at any moment. She's asking for a chilblain cure, I think.

Oh, there's a man too ! Here somebody take him.
