THE            DUKE        IN

DERBYSHIRE

VISIT TO UNEMPLOYED

- - continued.

---

Picture.:- The Duke concludes his extensive tour of Derbyshire unemployment centres. Ripley is visited.; the Duke receiving a wonderful reception, both on his arrival, and when he left the Centre to make a further call at the unemployed's workshops at Heanor. The Centre here is - - er - - was - - an old station. The men put in new floors and decorations, and made a fine club and work-rooms for themselves. Met by the officials, the Duke entered the buildings, and watched the men at their various jobs, making chairs and fancy basket work articles, wood-work, hearth-rug weaving, and the very useful job of boot-repairing. Many little surprise Christmas presents have been made by the men and for the men's families, but the best surprise for them would be to receive a New Year's gift of a real job again.
