

CURLERS' CARNIVAL

3,000 ENTRIES IN BONSPIEL.

Picture. :- Scots are great people for something with ice in it. And here are three-thousand of them going a-curling. The chief event is a grand match organised by the Royal Caledonian Curling Club. The place is Carsebreech, Loch, Perthshire. At one time there were 700 rinks in play, requiring 2800 curlers. Among many distinguished Scots who hurl the stone are the Earl of Stair and Sir Colin Macrae. A team of Glasgow ladies also takes part. Scots are very modest people, but this is where they can throw their weight about. And at lunchtime everybody has a bite to drink, having spent a happy morning in addition to the train fare.
