TOMMY'S NEW "WALKING OUT" UNIFORM.

-Exclusive Pictures-

R.E.J.

Here are some fashion notes on walking-out dress. The girls will appreciate this. The picture requires the voice of authority, and what voice could have greater authority than that of the Sergeant-Major.

In this case it is Sergeant-Major Patterson who is garrison Sergeant-Major of London, and one of the senior warrant officers of the British Army.

S.M.
PATTERSON

Here are the elegant pre-war uniforms of the Royal Horse Artillery, the right of the line, followed by uniforms of the cavalry and infantry.

Here we see the khaki uniforms worn by the whole of the army during and since the Great War, but to-day the War Office have permitted this very smart blue uniform which you now see to replace the old khaki.

Now look at this ! Don't you think it looks well, and this is how they are all walking out to-day.

I am sure you will agree with me that it is both smart and attractive.

Quick March !

Thank you Sergeant Major. He doesn't sound too bad, does he ?

Is the Army of to-day all right ? Oh boy ! Oh girl !
