EARL'S SISTER WEDS.

LADY PAMELA SMITH to THE HON. MICHAEL BERRY.

Picture:- The historic chapel of Grays' Inn, London, occasionally

lit by press flash-lights welcomes a lovely bride in the person of Lady Pamela Smith, daughter of the late Earl of Birkenhead, and Margaret Countess of Birkenhead. The day is very wet, but as soon as the bride emerged from the Church with her bride-groom. Mr. Michael Berry, son of Lord and Lady Camrose, the elements relented. In company with hundreds of people, the sun himself broke through the watery clouds to take a peep at the radiant pair.

The bride wore silver brocade. From a wreath of roses cascaded a cloud of snow-white tulle. Her retinue was also notable.

It included a tiny peer, Lord Drumlanrig, and a tinier maid, Gillian McNair Scott. And with her was not quite so tiny the Honourable Diana Berry. All very thrilled, and very happy !
