

2-501571

BATTLE OF LIVERPOOL.

STUDENTS CLASH.

---

Picture.:-

And that's the cause of a war ! Sister Jane !
Liverpool

Universities' mascot ! Like most wars, there's something very fishy about it. Of course, it's mostly cod ! So unlike a lot of wars, it's an amusing one. To save Sister Jane from the atrocity of being torn limb from limb,

the students have substituted a rigger ball for use during the battle for possession, and which ever side gets the ball - - the engineers, or the medical students - is entitled to have and to hold Sister Jane, for the term. Some poison gas just going over.

The fish has been carefully selected for the most offensive odour, and who-ever stops one will be recognised for weeks by his smell ! it's very fortunate that 'talkies' have not yet been followed by 'smellies', otherwise we should have had to cut this picture from the news-reel. Here you see authentic scenes of the capture of a medico, after a fierce hand to hand struggle in the front line. The Armistice was at last signed, and the female what caused all the trouble was exchanged for the ball. Jest barbarous I calls it !