

SHIRE HORSE SHOW.

THE KING A COMPETITOR.

Picture. :-

The Shire Horse Society at the Agricultural Hall holds one of the most successful shows during its 57 years of existence. Although many champion animals are exhibited for judging in the various classes, one of the Show's chief interests lies in the fact that King Edward is represented for the first time, having of course taken over the Royal farms of His Late Majesty. 'Applaton Binder', a stallion appears as entered by King Edward VIII, Breeder His Late Majesty King George V.

The winning animal in the three-years old stallion class is a fine bay, named Whittlesea Coming King.
