(F) Picture.:- At Groyden arrives the man, who, forty years ago presented his moving picture entertainment to the public. Louis Lumiere comes for the celebration of the invention. An Englishman, Friese-Greene, was the actual inventor, but Lumiere was the first to exhibit in public.

(G) Picture.:- His Majesty the King arrives at Buckingham Palace to hold the first Investiture of his reign. Among those to be honoured are the gun crews of 'Pembroke', and 'Excellent', who drew the gun carriage, upon which was borne the coffin of His Late Majesty King George V. Men of these crews will be decorated with the medal of the Royal Victorian Order, while the officers will receive the Insignia. At this investiture His Majesty will also confer the awards made by his father in the New Year's honours.
