WELCOME TO "THE PRESS"

RECEPTION IN MAKALE

Picture.:-

The Italian Commander-in-Chief, Marshal Badoglio, at Makale receives special envoys of the foreign press.

These representatives of almost the entire world of news print meet the Marshal, who points out to them parts of the country he is determined to conquer in the near future, which, in fact, he has now apparently done. The parade of Ascaris is part of the Press reception, and also the introduction to Ras Gugsea, to whom Italy has given the governership of the Tigre province. Another great victory is now claimed by the invaders, but the Abyssinians, although looking rather blacker, still write home, "Dear

Wives. Don't send more socks. There are lots here !"
