(A) Picture:- The 'Queen Mary', wonder ship of the age, is visited by girls of the 'Queen Mary' School, Lytham. Thirty-five pupils have brought with them a flag which they present to Commodore Sir Edgar Britten. It is a blue ensign, made of silk and cotton, and practically every girl in the school has had a hand in making it. It measures 18-feet by 9-feet. After this the pupils have a thrilling tour round the wonder vessel.

(B) Picture:- Talking of thrills, what about meeting these on a dark night? Mainz celebrates something or other - Mi-Carême, I think, in which everybody takes a delight. Hello!

Wrong queue! The procession is outstanding in original ideas. There's an amusing one, which is new to me!

The continental cities always seem to excel in this sort of thing.

I suppose it's one way of forgetting the eternal European crisis. (EFFECTS)

.....
Munich is doing more or less the same thing, despite rumours of economic stress, there's always enough money to have whoopee with (EFFECTS).
