Picture. :- Here, an over enthusiastic workman drove his pie into a gas main. The explosions blew all the man-hole lids sky high, and tore gaping holes in the roads. Many leaks caught fire. Streets were closed.

Five-thousand telephones put out of commission. The fear of asphyxiation nearly emptied the district, but those leaving had to walk.

Transport was at a standstill but not one person was seriously injured.

Similar good luck attended this bad luck story. The Montreal Villa-Maria Convent disaster threatened hundreds of sisters and children with death by fire, or exposure; but the heroic work by the nuns brought everyone to safety. The large wing was utterly destroyed. The bitter cold hampered rescue, but no lives were lost.

Tennessee doesn't want this bridge, and here it goes. (EFFECTS) (Count Five) Watch the bits dropping ! Some of them weigh hundred-weights. (EFFECTS) In bridge parlance, that's surely a grand slam !
