ARTIST WITH "CAMERA EYE"

HELPS POLICE TO TRACE BANDIT.

---

Picture.

Frank Savatis, a Chicago artist, was stuck up in a restaurant the other day. Did he yell murder? He didn't! He thought it might come true

if he did. He went to his apartment, put on his smock, and sketched the face of that there goddam gangster, took it to Police Headquarters, and put it in as Exhibit 'A'. Is it like him? Ask the Police! "It's more like him than he is," said the artist proudly, and the Roberts just went out and picked him up. After his stretch he will maybe specialise on barmen.

They can only draw corks!
