MINISTER OF HEALTH

AT WELWYN GARDEN CITY.

Picture:-

Sir Kingsley Wood, Minister of Health, arrives to present

verbal bouquets to Welwyn

Garden City. Incidentally, the Minister has also consented to lay the foundation stone for Welwyn's new City offices. So it's a great day for the Garden City. The stone is uncovered, and Sir Kingsley Wood takes up the working tools of the craft. Note also that he handles the trowel to the manner born. Well, almost expertly, I mean, and the workmen wonder if he belongs to their Union. The stone is declared laid with four well considered knocks, and one for his nob, and Welwyn's civic offices are on the way up. A tour of the city follows. Most towns are like Topsy. "They just grewed," but Welwyn is an example of considered successful town planning.
