

IN THE SPRING -----

A WOMAN'S FANCY -----

Picture.:- In the Spring a woman's fancy expansively turns to thoughts of new clothes. Two of the latest Parisian afternoon -- er -- creations. On my left--- Mimi Pinson, in silk muslin. On my right Claudette, charming hat balancer, in her most attractive display. Oh, and Daphne ! Delightfully packed in pleasing wrapper of rose satin, and what-nots.

And lace has again become fashionable, so some of the old jokes may soon be heard again. Lace parasols are transparent too. The net is easily seen. Lace hats help to keep the head cool, which gives them a definite value.

And the whole idea of reviving lace for ladies -- er -- decoration -- is good for the lace making industry. Artificial silk nearly killed it, but if women will only encourage this revival of something real, it will keep lots of nifty fingers busy, and help, oh, ever so !
