NEWS IN BRIEF

Picture.

The first result of Germany's acceptance of the League's invitation to send delegates to the Council, is the arrival at Croydon of the huge Lufthansa machine, bringing members of the delegation. Herr Von Ribbentrop, the German Ambassador-at-large, is greeted by the German Ambassador to Britain Baron Von Hoersch.

Six highly placed officials of the Hitler regime, comprise the visiting group, plus a number of secretaries and interpreters. The dove of peace is not visible, but let's hope it's flying around somewhere close.
