

NEWS IN BRIEF

(A) Picture:- The peaceful five-thousand years old Pyramids have been dragged into politics. Owing to the recent Egyptian riots, the Government has forbidden the 'Blue Shirts' to assemble in Cairo. So the base of the Pyramid, with the Sphinx as referee, is comandedered for swearing in, and at, recruits.

---

(B) Picture:- Spain has its politics too. The strongest arguments often being the knife and revolver. One party slipped back a few centuries, and paraded a freshly chopped human head on a pole round the streets. However, the saner are now listening to the newly elected representatives telling the old-old story.

---

(C) Picture:- France holds its feminine motor-rally. Very feminine ! Oh yes ever so q!

(EFFECTS - 9 SHOTS)

The finish is St. Raphael on the Cote d'Azur, and Madame Dubuc Taine is one of the fastest firsts.

---