(A) Picture:- That very nice Cup is for the Amateur Billiards Championship, but there's the champion, J. Thompson, of Workington, who beat J.H. Beetham, of Littleover, Derbyshire, by only thirty points in over three-thousand up. The Cup is presented by Mr. Bisset, chairman of the Billiards Association. The game was the most thrilling of its kind seen for many a billiards-table year.

And J. Thompson had a tough battle to gain his narrow winning margin. The runner-up missed a losing hazard which lost him the game.

(B) Picture:- Before Robert Peel created the Bobbies and the Peelers, the guardians of the law looked like this. Later in 1836 they looked like that. Note the sleeping draught !

Since that time the Leeds Police Force has been developed, expanded and considerably enlarged. Lovely morning, inspector !! He !

The evolution of the Leeds Constabulary is shown at their centenary celebration. They are inspected by Lieut-Colonel Brook, His Majesty's Inspector of Police, and with him are the Lord Mayor, and the Chief Constable. Lieut-Colonel Brook

D.S.O. takes their guards-like salute, as they march past. (P.S. When in Leeds, if you can't be very clever, be good !)
