

Crowds around the well-trodden steps of Caxton Street Register Office, always signify a fashionable wedding. And this one is not merely fashionable; --- it's Fashion. Lovely Barbara Goalen, who wears all those fabulous creations in the pages of the Women's Magazines. The girl who created that aloof look of gowned perfection, that makes a mere man feel as if his shirt's hanging out. The Bridegroom is London business man ~~Mr Nigel Campbell~~ and the ~~London~~ crowds call out their best wishes for a model marriage.

The ~~new~~ crowds are out also at Buckingham Palace --- to watch the arrivals for the first of a series of investitures, held by the Queen Mother during the absence of the Queen. One of the best-known to receive the knighthood awarded ~~to~~ him in the New Year's Honours was the world-famous sculptor Jacob Epstein.

And the Grand Old Man of the Music Hall --- hale and hearty still at eighty-four --- is now Sir George Robey. Nearly two hundred men and women attended this investiture for the first honours of 1954.
