

This was the outward and visible sign that the Big Four Conference in Berlin had ended. Britain, America, France and R Russia had failed to agree on any ^{major} point except the holding of another conference. Here is Mr Eden who, as Foreign Secretary, has been representing Great Britain.

~~Mr Eden~~ ^{and} also has a word about problems further afield.

So let us take you to Korea, where the famous Forty-Fifth Division is holding a good-bye parade before leaving for home.

In the skies that no longer echo to the roar of battle, liaison planes fly in farewell salute. And the Army Dogs of this gallant company wear a sort of Old School Coat.

And now --- arriving at the New York Airport of Idlewild --- is a group of eighty-two refugees from behind the Iron Curtain. They have braved the perils of unauthorised crossing of the borders of Eastern Europe..... perils that seemed to them well worth while to give their children the chance of freedom.

Now to Springfield, Illinois; where a balloon parade was held to raise money for sending the messages of the Free world to Iron Curtain countries. Springfield was the home of America's famous President Abraham Lincoln..... and it was Lincoln who freed the slaves of America nearly a century ago.
