

Universal News from Kenya this week covers the arrival of the British Colonial Secretary, Mr Oliver Lyttleton, for his third on-the-spot investigation. The Governor, Sir Evelyn Baring, welcomed him and took him round the Kikuyu Reserve. Home Guards, soldiers and police are on the alert in the <sup>prim</sup> shadow of ~~mighty~~ Mt. Kenya.

This visit by the Colonial Secretary, follows the recent fact-finding tour by a group of ~~xxxxx~~ Conservative and Labour Members of Parliament, led by Mr Walter Elliott. After their landing at Sagana, the M.P.'s went by Land Rover to parts of Kenya where the Mau Mau menace is rife. And they joined a typical forest patrol.

Coming in on a stretcher to Karatina Police Station --- is a Mau Mau leader whose capture, when wounded, is a triumph for the forces of Security. He is the notorious General China. There was a price on General China's head. He is considered second in importance of all the evil forces of Mau Mau.
