

SCOTLAND v ENGLAND SOCCER.

5/4/54.

Hampden Park, Glasgow, packed with a capacity crowd, saw Billy Wright win the toss for England in this Scotland v. England International.

So Scotland kicked off. And this was one of those matches where Scotland had most of the ball but England put it most in the net. ^{But} ~~though~~ the first one was for Scotland.

Scotland forced a corner and inside left Brown put it in. It was from a movement begun by Finney on the right wing, that Broadis scored the equaliser for England.

Second half began with the score one - all. Then, after fifty minutes, Nicholls headed a second for England.

No. 3 to England, from a free kick by Mullen.

Then once again the ball was in the Scottish goal, this time a header from Mullen making it four - one. But in the last half-minute, Scotland scored again.

England 4 --- Scotland. 2.
