

Once again the roads of France are given over to the excitements of the cycle race<sup>s</sup> which, as all the world knows, is the Frenchman's favourite ~~sport~~ sport. This was the international starting from gay Paris, northward to Roubaix on the Belgian border. In the spring a young man's fancy often takes ~~him~~ him to Paris --- but riding a bicycle as fast as he can, takes his mind off romance. So we merely mention that the winner was the Belgian Impanis.

COVENTRY CATHEDRAL WINDOWS.

For the new Cathedral at Coventry, the whole of the west front will be of glass. Not the usual stained-glass window, but a panel of clear glass on which the figures are cut. This is the designer, John Hutton, at work with a diamond on the figures of sixty-five saints and angels, which will be incorporated in the design. The screen is seventy feet high <sup>and</sup> ~~and~~ forty-five feet wide.

HOLLYWOOD FASHIONS.

Just a brief glimpse from Hollywood of what the starlets are wearing. Here's Mara Corday, in a cotton print halter-dress; while little Ruth Hampton, chooses ~~new~~ style ~~sport~~ with a shirt on top and puff pants underneath, when she's thinking of going swimming. It's as easy to change into, as a change of mind. And here is Ruth again in the very latest --- the swimsuit that is unsinkable. The trouble with this one is that your friends all want you to prove it.
