

Questing

~~Review~~ around the world in search of news, our cameras take you inside the Japanese Parliament in Tokyo during the discussion of a Bill on police procedure.

This Bill before the Japanese Parliament was <sup>extra</sup> ~~especially~~ controversial. It isn't always like this.

SEA OTTERS.

On board the transport Funston, homeward bound from the east by way of Alaska, are some unusual passengers. They are sea otters ... and these are the first of their kind ever to survive captivity. Their favourite food is shell-fish. Half a century ago, sea otters almost became extinct, owing to large numbers being killed for their fur. Preserving laws are helping to save them.

ANNAPOLIS.

Graduation Day at Annapolis, the American Naval Academy, ended with the distribution of diplomas to the successful cadets at the top of the class --- and special distinction for the young man who came out at the bottom..... and the traditional ceremony of "sounding off".

JET CAR.

Two young men of California have a home-made jet engine which they've fixed to the top of a normal car. First time they tested it, it set fire to the roof. But, nothing despairing, here they are all ready to try again. It's the type of engine that was first used in the Second World War, to propel Hitler's doodle-bugs. Now it's one of the horrors of peace.
